AUDIENCE FEEDBACK - PANTO 2022

FEE FI FO FUM., the Core Theatre Solihull is in for some fun!

Dame Trott and her Family have been selling ice cream at the annual fair for as long as anyone can remember. But when the ginormous giant puts the rent up, the family are forced to sell their beloved cow Pat for just a handful of beans.

Can Jack get his head out of the clouds for long enough to save the day? Will this huge adventure take them to new heights? Can Dame Trott stop life at the funfair being so unfair?

The award winning Little Wolf Entertainment are back with the biggest panto at them all, full of marvellous moo-sic, cow-ntless costumes and an udderly ridiculous Dame with giant size jokes!

RELAXED PERFORMANCE

WELCOME

I welcome audiences to our Summer and Autumn season programme 2023 with some cracking new shows and a packed film programme (see page 22). Look out for a separate 'Solidays' leaflet produced for families at The Core and in libraries.

Our family pantomime presented in partnership with Little Wolf Entertainment is on sale now and early booking is recommended for this year's Jack and The Beanstalk (see pages 2-3). Pantomime is a long-held tradition in Solihull with families enjoying the small friendly 'local' feel of the Core Theatre where no one is more than 14 rows from the front.

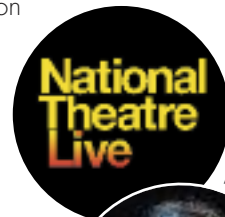

FESTIVAL 36 - SHAKESPEARE IN SOLIHULL

We're hosting an exciting summer visit from Shakespeare's First Folio as part of our Festival 36 on 1-2 July. Take a look at this amazingly rare copy of William Shakespeare's works, a fascinating piece of regional and international cultural history - here at The Core. See online for more information about other linked events when known.

Finally, for those who'd love to see the very latest hit play on London's prestigious National Theatre stage, you can do so right here, without the hassle of the train trip or London ticket prices! Enjoy internationally acclaimed performances by actors like; David Tennant, David Harewood and Phoebe Waller-Bridge offering fantastic value and right here on your doorstep. Encore and live screenings from the National Theatre are shown on our big screen and can sell out, so book early.

FESTIVAL 36 SHAKESPEARE IN SOLIHULL

The book often referred to as The First Folio was published in 1623, 7 years after the death of William Shakespeare. It's a collection of 36 of Shakespeare's works and was brought together by two of his friends aiming to present the best possible version of his plays. Without it, half of his plays would have been lost to us. Only around 230 copies survived and each copy is unique.

As well as viewing this rare and precious book, other activities will take place over this weekend. Details will be shown on website when confirmed.

Encore Café Bar is known as a 'calm oasis' by regulars who enjoy the peace, space and the warm welcome offered by a friendly team.

Staff pride themselves on serving great value local produce (like Lashford's sausages and Fowler's Cheese). Breakfasts and lunch snack items like toasties and hot baguettes are freshly made to order and great value.

Diners enjoy wide spaces between tables, high and low counters for wheelchair users and a full 'Changing places' bathroom on the ground floor.

Serving from 9am to 3pm (10am Weds) Monday to Saturday why not give Encore Café Bar a visit or combine a lunch or afternoon tea with a film (see page 22) or theatre matinee show with friends.

The wooden floor area of the ground floor of the Central Library is known as the 'Dwell' area and Encore customers can take drinks over to that space to enjoy a peaceful browse of papers and magazines.
